THE STATE BANK AT CENTERTOWN

Closed Its Doors Last Monday Morning.

BAD MANAGEMENT THE CAUSE

Attorneys for the Bank Say Things Are Not as Bad as Reported.

DEPOSITORS PROBABLY SAFE

Considerable consternation was created in Hartford last Monday by the report that the State Bank of Centertown, this county, had closed its doors and quit business. Upon investigation this report was confirmed. State Inspector Lon Rogers, by order of Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner, visited this bank last Friday, and seems to have found the bank's affairs in quite a precarious condition.

The Bank of Centertown was organized about eight years ago, with a capital stock of $15,000. John B. Maddox is the President, John D. Bell, Vice President, and H. H. Lewis, Cashier. The directors are J. B. Maddox, E. S. Barnes and H. H. Lewis. The statement made on December 15, 1910, as published in The Herald, showed that the bank had $87,335.16 resources, with total deposits of $63,291.14.

The injudicious management of the bank officials and those controlling its policy, seems to have been the cause of the crash. Dr. Ben Bruner, Secretary of State, in an interview published in the daily papers, has the following to say in regard to the failure of the Bank of Centertown:

"My examiner found on examining this bank that four men had borrowed directly over $27,000 and were indorsers for over $8,000 more.

"One of the officers of the institution had borrowed directly over $10,800 and was indorser for over $3,100 more, or had borrowed directly and indirectly $13,900 or 93 per cent. of the capital and surplus of the bank, while two other parties had each borrowed over $5,300 each and were indorsers for about $2,300 each, more, while a fourth party had borrowed over $5,700. These four men had borrowed from the bank directly and indirectly $35,000, or 55 per cent. of the deposits.

"This bank had a capital of $15,000, with practically no surplus, and under the banking laws of Kentucky $4,500 is all any one man can borrow, and if he is an officer, two-thirds of this must be secured by mortgages, and if not an officer, at least one-third of it, and of this entire borrowing of $35,000 by these four men, but very little of it is secured by mortgages.

"This is one of the most flagrant cases of looting a bank that has come to my knowledge since I have been at the head of the banking institutions of Kentucky, and yet this institution had refused to sign up for examination and had first deformed to my examiner looking at the books; but when told that they could either show the books or close the doors of the bank, they submitted to examination.

"I want to state, however, in this connection that while I am going to prosecute these men to the full letter of the law, because I believe every man that knowingly borrows from a bank more money than he knows the bank is allowed to loan, is liable under the law as a conspirator, and I think this a good time to make a few test cases of this kind.

"My examiner thinks that the losses in this case will be total so far as the stockholders are concerned, and will probably not pay over fifty cents on the dollars to depositors.

"I cannot be too emphatic in my statement that my examiner has found the other banks that he has examined in this immediate community in excellent condition."

Messrs. Heavrin & Woodward, retained on Monday by the stockholders, directors and trustee of the Bank of Centertown to act as attorneys for that institution in the liquidation of its affairs, have authorized the following statement:

On January 20, 1911, Mr. Lon Rogers, State Bank Examiner, discovered, during an examination of the affairs of the Bank of Centertown, that some of its directors had grossly disregarded the law by borrowing very large amounts in excess of the amount allowed by law.

The examiner could not tell whether the bank was impaired or not, without further examination, and reported the facts to Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State, who promptly ordered the bank closed on Monday, January 23.

On that day a meeting of stockholders and directors was held at Centertown, at which Mr. Alvin Rowe was unanimously selected to act for the bank as liquidating agent, and he accepted said trust. It was further unanimously decided to prosecute any official who suffered the bank to lose on account of such officer's irregularity, and each and all the officers are arranging deeds to the bank, and the wives of such officers are giving up all separate property to save the honor of the officers and the interests of the depositors. It is not now believed that any depositor will lose a cent, though all of them must suffer some delay and inconvenience. The action of the officers and their families will secure practically all the indebtedness owing by the directors, and the other largest debtor to the bank is amply good and will secure every cent by mortgage.

The first reports were in error and it is hoped to put the bank on its feet in a short while.

NOTE—In the latter part of the above statement made by Secretary of State Dr. Ben L. Bruner, in which he says: "I cannot be too emphatic in my statement that my examiner has found the other banks that he has examined in this immediate community in excellent condition," he referred to the Bank of Hartford, which was examined the 16th day of last month and the Beaver Dam Deposit Bank which was examined the 19th of this month, these being the only other banks examined so far in the county.

JUDGE BIRKHEAD IS NOW HOLDING COURT

In Meade County, Under Special Request Made by Gov.

Willson.

Judge T. F. Birkhead is in Meade county this week, presiding over the Circuit Court in that county, which was convened Monday morning for a two weeks' session. Judge Birkhead was requested to preside at this term of the Meade County Circuit Court by Gov. Willson, from whom he received a telegram Saturday morning.

While the time allotted for the holding of the January term of Circuit Court in Meade county is two weeks, Judge Birkhead stated that he would make an effort to have the docket so arranged that it would not be necessary to extend the term into the second week.

Judge Birkhead completed the term of court in McLean county in the first week of what was to have been a two-weeks session and by so doing was in a position to comply with the request of the Governor. The next regular term of court in this circuit does not convene till February 6, when Judge Birkhead will open a two weeks term of court at Hartford.

FORMER CELLULOSE PLANT CLOSED AT OWENSBORO

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 23.—Orders have been received at the local offices of the American Milling Company to close the doors of the plant until further orders. The notice is the result of a petition for a receiver, which is pending at Camden, N. J., and which will be heard within the next few days. The American Milling Company has head offices in Chicago and plants in Owensboro and Peoria, Ill. It has been manufacturing a certain kind of feed for cattle.

The plant was originally built for the purpose of manufacturing cellulose for battleships.

Judson G. Clements, Democrat, from Georgia, was elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission by the other members of the commission. He succeeds Martin A. Knapp, who was recently appointed Chief Justice of the new Commerce Court.

COAL MINES OF OLD KENTUCKY

Among the Safest, Says Bureau of Labor.

THE FOREIGN-BORN WORKMEN

Often Imperil Lives By Their Reckless Disregard of Mining Rules.

THE HEAVY TOLL OF A DECADE

Washington, Jan. 23.—Through misunderstanding of orders or by reckless disregard of the necessary rules of operation, foreign-born workmen, without actual experience in mining, who are employed in large numbers in this work, often imperil not only their own lives, but also the lives of trained and experienced workers, according to a bulletin on "fatal accidents in coal mining" made public to-day by the Bureau of Labor.

The figures cited in the bulletin are principally for the decade ending for 1908, during which period the fatal accidents in the coal mines of North America were 29,293 and the rate per 1,000 employees in the industry was 3.11. During the decade ending in 1906, the latest for which figures for other coal mining countries were available, the average fatality rate in North America, says the report, was 3.13 per 1,000. This, it is said, was decidedly higher than the fatality rate in other important coal fields of the world. Figures for a few other countries for the same period are given by the bulletin as follows: United Kingdom, 1.29 per 1,000 employees; Austria, 1.35; France, 1.81, and Prussia, 2.13.

"The full extent of the risk in coal mining in North America," the report continues, "is, however, not clearly shown by these figures for the coal fields as a whole, but consideration must be given to the rates for each geographical section.

"These show that in the East Central section, which comprises Western Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana, the fatality rate for the twenty years ending with 1908 was only 2.25 per 1,000 employees, while in the Western section (Colorado, New Mexico and Utah) it was 6.4 per 1,000, and in the Pacific Coast section (Washington and British Columbia), 7 per 1,000. It would appear that the variation in the fatality rates is due to different mining methods and to differences in the coal seams."

While the fluctuations in the rate from year to year have been considerable, the bulletin continues, since 1898, it has never fallen as low as 3 per 1,000. An important relation to the number of fatalities is the length of mine experiences, and the bulletin cites that of the 1,669 persons killed in West Virginia in the ten-year period ending with 1908, one-fifth had worked less than one year in the mine and over 60 per cent. had been at work less than five years.

"Mining methods in the United States," says the report in conclusion, "are often crude, and known safety precautions are either disregarded or not used. Child labor laws have been, and still are, indifferently complied with in many States, and a number of fatalities occur each year among children at an age when they should be in school. In 1908 ten children of 13 and 14, and thirteen children of 15 years were among those whose deaths in the mines were recorded in the official reports."

Tuberculosis Proves Fatal.

Greenville, Ky., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Riley M. Dexter, the wife of a prominent merchant of this place, died this morning. She was the victim of tuberculosis. Her 1-year-old daughter died of pneumonia two days ago. She leaves a husband and two small children.

Prof. Rhoads to Visit Schools.

Prof. McHenry Rhoads, of Owensboro, recently appointed Supervisor of the High Schools of the State, has gone to Frankfort to commence his work. He will spend most of his time on the road visiting the various high schools and studying and advising with the principals.

OWES THE BANK ABOUT $200,000

Conditions J. H. Parrish Left Behind.

FOUR CENTS ARE DUE ONE MAN

Out of a Claim of $16—Claims of Parrish Were Badly Distorted.

NOT A PENNY YET PAID OUT

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 21.—James H. Parrish, former president of the defunct Owensboro Savings Bank & Trust Company, was indebted to the bank in the sum of $199,300 when the bank closed its doors. A final order of distribution was entered in the bankruptcy proceedings against Parrish this afternoon. Receiver Pedley, of the Savings Bank, will receive the munificent sum of $498 on the claim against the former bank president. In other words, the distributions of his assets amounts to one-fourth of 1 per cent. Parrish claimed his liabilities amounted to $309,650, and assets to $252,567. The trustee in bankruptcy was able to realize only $10,000, the greater portion of the "junk" that Parrish claimed as assets being worthless stocks in wildcat concerns that he had organized, and his property was mortgaged to the fullest extent.

He listed insurance policies at $35,000 and the trustee says they are worth just $200. T. B. Yeager, one of the petitioners to throw Parrish into bankruptcy, had a claim of $16. The trustee will make out a check for 4 cents, payable to Mr. Yeager as his part of the Parrish estate.

Mr. Parrish is serving a five-years' sentence in the Eddyville penitentiary for his part in wrecking the bank. There were deposits to the extent of $1,000,000, and the receiver has never paid out a penny, although the bank closed nearly three years ago. It will never pay over 5 cents on the dollar.

SUICIDES NUMBERED 16,806 IN YEAR 1910

Featuring the fact that during the year 1910 Americans made public gifts of $141,604,338, the Chicago Tribune prints a lengthy compilation of benefactions, suicides, disasters and fires.

The suicide record for 1910 in America shows 16,806 victims, as compared with 10,230 in 1909. Physicians head the list of professional men.

The loss of life in general disasters in America last year was as follows: Drowning, 5,112; fires, 3,562; mines, 1,004; storms, 265; explosions, 951; electrical, 189; lightning, 199; asphyxiation, 239; elevators, 112; automobiles, 920.

Embezzlements during the year totaled about $25,000,000 as compared with $8,000,000 in 1909.

SEEKS A DIVORCE FROM HER SECRET HUSBAND

Clay, Ky., Jan. 21.—Much surprise was occasioned when Ledye Cozart, by her attorneys Baker & Baker and Harris & Blackwell yesterday filed a petition in the Webster Circuit Court asking for an absolute divorce from Herman Z. Clark.

This is the first intimation that the public has had that the young people were man and wife. The facts seem to be as follows: Some time in the early part of 1910 the young people arranged for a marriage, which fact became known to their parents, who, rather than have them elope, agreed to the union, and accompanied them to Evansville, Ind., on March 5, where they were married, it being agreed, however, between all the parties that the bride, because of her tender years, should remain with her parents for at least a year, and the groom should continue to live at the home of his parents. It was further agreed that they would continue to be seen together as formerly, but would not make engagements and go with other young people.

So smoothly was the game played that their most intimate friends had no suspicion of the true state of affairs. Mrs. Clark was formerly Miss Cozart, a daughter of one of the most substantial and progressive business men of Clay, and is a beautiful and charming young woman of 18 years of age. Mr. Clark is the son of T. M. Clark, a prosperous farmer, and one of the largest land owners in Webster county.

NOW HERE IS SOME VERY HEAVY TOBACCO

Leslie Moore, a farmer living near Morgantown, has a small crop of tobacco which seems to be unusually heavy. When he first cut it he placed it in his barn, which soon fell down with it. He moved it to an old log house, which fell down with it a few days ago. He has now moved it in one room of his residence and it has sprung the house so that none of the doors can be closed.—[Russellville Democrat.]

Died in McLean County.

Information has been received of the death and funeral of Mrs. Sallie Coffman, who died at her home near Poplar Grove, McLean county, of a complication of diseases, at the age of sixty-eight years. She was a prominent member of the Poplar Grove Baptist Church, at which place the funeral was conducted, and was well known in McLean county. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

FIRST CHAIR VICTIM TAKEN TO EDDYVILLE

Negro Murderer Charles Howard to be Electrocutated

April 14.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 21.—Charles Howard, the negro under sentence of death for the murder of Ed Rice, a white man, in this city last August, was taken to Eddyville this morning by order of Judge Benton, to remain there till April 14, the day set for his electrocution.

Circuit Clerk Ben Marshall had never written an order under the new law sentencing a man to be electrocuted, and when he asked Judge Benton about it, the latter looked up the law and decided that when a man is finally sentenced to death, the new law says he must be taken at once to the Eddyville penitentiary and there kept until the day of his execution. Mr. Marshall wrote the order that way, and it says: "Taken at once to the Eddyville penitentiary and there kept till April 14, when he shall be taken out before sunrise and put to death by electrocution."

There seems to have been some doubt in the minds of some of the Judges as to the proper construction of the law, and one man from Breathitt, named Little, who is under sentence of death, was sent to the Frankfort penitentiary to await the day of his execution. It is presumed that Penman, the Lincoln county negro, whose death sentence has just been affirmed by the Court of Appeals, will be sent to the Eddyville penitentiary as soon as the Governor fixes the date of his electrocution.

Calhoun Man Drops Dead.

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 22.—James M. Epley, one of the best known citizens of Calhoun, McLean county, dropped dead yesterday while seated in a chair at a drug store talking to friends. He was 65 years old and is survived by five children. Heart failure was the cause of his death.

Paul Morton Dead.

New York, Jan. 19.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and Secretary of the Navy under Theodore Roosevelt, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in the Hotel Seymour here to-night.

CHANGED BACK TO OLD DATES

State Fair Will be Held September 11-17.

BOARD ACTS AT LEXINGTON

Special Premium List Announced For Tobacco Exhibits in 1911.

A GREAT FAIR IS PROMISED

The State Fair at Louisville will be held on the old dates of September 11 to 17, inclusive, the State Board of Agriculture at a meeting held at Lexington Thursday afternoon deciding to reconsider its recent action of changing the dates to begin on September 4 and finally adopting the dates which have heretofore been used in all the years since the fair was established. The board also announced a handsome premium list for tobacco exhibits, the announcement being made now so that the growers may save their samples for exhibit from the crop which is now being put on the market.

Special premiums to be given at the State Fair were accepted from the American Aberdeen Angus Association, the American Southdown Association, the American Shorthorn Association, the American Duroc-Jersey Swine Breeder's Association, and the American Polled Durham Association.

The change of the dates for the State Fair back to September 11 practically settles all controversy over this question, and will prevent any conflict either with the Indiana State Fair or the Bourbon County Fair, which is the oldest fair organization in the State, and which has always begun its exhibition on September 4.

When the change was made to September 4 it was chiefly for the purpose of avoiding conflict with the Indiana State Fair, but almost simultaneously, without knowing of the action of the Kentucky board, the Indiana officials changed the date for their fair to begin September 4. Having learned of this action, the Kentucky Board of Agriculture promptly moved the fair back to the old dates, which is expected to give satisfaction on all sides.

Tobacco Premium List. The following premiums and classes for tobacco to be exhibited at the State Fair next fall were arranged by the board:

Burley Crop of 1910—Red leaf, first, second and third prizes of $20, $15 and $5, respectively. Bright leaf, same prizes. Cigarette wrapper, same prizes. Bright trash, same prizes. Best four hands from one crop, representing the four grades mentioned, $10.

Dark Tobacco, Crop of 1910—Austrian leaf, $15, $10 and $5. Bright wrapper, same prizes. Long or African leaf, same prizes. French leaf, same prizes. Italian leaf, same prizes. Green River leaf, same prizes. Best four hands, all from one crop, representing four different types, $10.

Samples shall consist of twelve hands of twelve leaves each and shall become the property of the State Fair Association at the close of the fair. No samples eligible unless produced in Kentucky or adjoining State, and must be entered by grower.

Entries close September 8 and all entries must be on the ground by 6 p. m. September 9.

YOUNG THOMPSON GOES ON STAND

Denies Knowledge of His Father's Murder.

TELLS OF FINDING THE BODY

Says Money Was Secured to Telegraph and Telephone Relatives.

THOMPSON FREED ON TRIAL

Providence, Ky., Jan. 18.—The Commonwealth concluded its direct testimony this afternoon in the case against Thomas Thompson, nineteen years of age, charged with having guilty knowledge of the death of his father, Henry T. Thompson, who was found shot to death on December 26, in a ravine, near Providence. At the conclusion of the testimony of the State's witnesses, the defense moved the court to dismiss the defendant, but this motion was overruled.

The defendant was placed on the stand at 2 o'clock this afternoon and continued to testify until 5 o'clock when his cross-examination was completed and court adjourned.

The young man gave a detailed statement of his actions and movements on the day his father disappeared and the subsequent finding of the body.

Thompson's Testimony.

Thompson testified that on the preceding night of the tragedy he remained at the home of a friend. He said that he went to the store about 8:15 o'clock that morning and asked for his father, but was told that he had gone out. With Tom Baker he went up stairs and began taking an invoice. His sister telephoned to the store and asked why it was the order she had given her father had not been filled. He went across the street and secured a part of the order and returned to the store. He returned to the upstairs and resumed his work of invoicing. He remained at the store until noon and went home. His mother was uneasy on account of the absence of her husband and he immediately returned to the store and talked to his brother-in-law concerning his father's disappearance. He looked in the cellar of the store and then went to rooms that his father was in the habit of using.

Witness, continuing his testimony, said he went to a drawer where his father kept a pistol and found that it was missing. He went to his own room and secured a thirty-two caliber pistol. He returned to the store and borrowed Jackson's horse for the purpose of going in search of his father. He was told that it was being whispered about town that his father was missing and to avoid any publicity in the matter, it would be best for him not to ride on the main street.

He left town by an unfrequented way and went to the cemetery. Hearing a report from a shot gun over the hill, it occurred to him that possibly his father was hunting. He rode over the hill and through the cemetery, but saw no one. To get back to the main road, he skirted the woods and came to the "Rock House," which is a depression in the side of the hill. While peering down in the gulch he saw what looked to him to be the body of a man. He left his horse and going nearer, saw the body of his father. He immediately remounted his horse and returned to Providence, reporting to his father's brother the discovery. Several went to the place and found the body. It was then suggested that he telephone and telegraph to the relatives. It was then that he secured $20 from the bookkeeper and went to telephone and telegraph.

The prosecution failed to shake the testimony of the boy on cross-examination. It is the general opinion that the deed was committed between 11:30 and 12 o'clock.

Marshall Sutton, who caused the arrest of the young man, was placed on the stand this morning, but his testimony was not of a startling nature. He said that the boy told him he wanted him to assist in finding out who the murderers of his father really were.

One witness testified yesterday that Thompson came to the store and secured the $20 before he went in search of his father's body.

Young Thompson Acquitted.

Providence, Ky., Jan. 19.—Thomas Thompson, nineteen years of age, who has been on trial here for the past three days on the charge of having guilty knowledge of the murder of his father, Henry T. Thompson, was acquitted this afternoon.

PUT THIS IN YOUR

A man is known by the company he keeps—likewise by his Business Cards, Circulars and Stationery.

Let us print them and they will BE A CREDIT TO YOU.

The acquittal of the young man did not cause much surprise in Providence, as very little damaging evidence was brought out. However, it is generally believed in Providence to-night that the trial will result in sensational developments within the next ten days. It is known positively that two men have knowledge which will lead to the arrest of the real murderers of Thompson. There is a great deal of feeling being manifested, and the citizens want the guilty punished.

The arguments were limited to two speeches to a side this afternoon. C. J. Waddill, of Madisonville, and County Attorney C. W. Bennett, of Dixon, spoke for the State, and W. E. Bourland and R. M. Baker for the defendant.

Thompson was found dead at noon on December 26 in a ravine near the Providence cemetery. He had been shot three times in the head, and it is believed that he was also robbed of over $300. The body was discovered by Thomas Thompson, who was acquitted on his examining trial to-day.

WANTED HIS NAME TO TYPIFY HIS GIFT

A promising young merchant recently presented his doting wife with a handsome piano lamp as a Yuletide gift. He was much flattered when she told him to give it his name, until he asked the reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," she said, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when only half full, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime, and is bound to smoke."—[Norman E. GIRLS REFUSE TO BE REFORMED

Pitiful Sacrifice of An Aged Man

TO SAVE THE HONOR OF GIRLS

Bride of 14 Deserts Groom and Runs Off With Step-Mother.

EVIL TENDENCIES PREVAILED

The Evansville Courier says: A story of love undressing is written between two names on the slate at the police station.

Although the charges do not intimate as much, Nina Pryor, fourteen-year-old bride of A. G. Pryor, aged 60, is guilty of deserting the man who three days ago married her to save his bride and also his daughter from a life of degradation.

The other girl slated is the daughter, Beulah Pryor, aged 16, who makes light in her cell of her act of abetting her new step-mother, two years younger than herself, who has chosen to tear down the walls which had been built up by the aged man at a sacrifice.

Last Wednesday W. D. Pryor, a well known citizen of Henderson, married Nina Lovelace, telling the County Judge of Henderson that he was not in love but desperately bent upon saving his young daughter. It developed that his new-found bride was a girl who had been lured to Evansville and induced to enter a resort at 210 Lower First street. She had been accompanied by the daughter of W. D. Pryor. Realizing that he had but a few years in which to live, and thinking only of the daughter who had been snatched from the resort here by the timely arrival of the Evansville police, Pryor resolved to enter into a marriage contract in hope that it would clear the way for an upright life for all that he cared for in his family.

Yesterday the girl-wife and her new step-daughter bolted from the home of the unfortunate Henderson groom, and armed with a forged note, were given admittance at the same resort in which they had been found last week.

When questioned by the police after their arrest by Detectives Heuke and Peck, Mrs. Nina Pryor admitted she had written a note and signed the name of her husband, the note consenting to her desire to board at 210 Lower First street.

At first the girls boldly declared the note had been written by W. D. Pryor. They finally confessed to having duped the husband and father in their desire to leave the portals of their home for the glamour of the under-world. They laughed when taken to their cells at the police station, declaring that nothing could change their desire, and that if arrested fifty times, would not bow to the will of the crestfallen groom who thought he was playing his last card when he took Nina Lovelace as his wife.

Up to a late hour the police had heard nothing from W. D. Pryor. He was notified soon after the arrest. The bride protested when she learned that the police endeavored to communicate with her husband. She declared that she preferred anything to returning to her husband. She said she was happy for a day or two after their marriage but of late had longed to return to Evansville.

The marriage license was issued at Henderson, only after the distracted father, hoping that by bringing the Lovelace girl into the family circle he could hold his own daughter, had secured the consent of the judge of the court in Henderson county.

It was stated at the police station yesterday that the girl prisoners would probably be turned over to the juvenile authorities, unless the aged groom comes from Henderson to intervene in behalf of those nearest him.

THE INACCURACIES OF NEWSPAPERDOM

Some Specimens of How Little Things Grow Big in Print.

The following true story, prepared for the Commoner by a citizen of Beeville, Texas, illustrates the inaccuracies that sometimes creep into the news. What you see in the papers cannot always be relied upon, even when there is no motive for misrepresenting:

William Longsdorf, an aged and one-time prosperous bachelor of Beeville, Tex., retrieving the habiliments of former days, rammed his feet into a pair of old boots which he had some years before cast aside. An obstruction in the toe of one of them, much to his delight, proved to be a $50 bill. The village newspaper man duly recorded the find in the columns of his paper, and also sent it to the nearest city paper of which he was correspondent. The telegraph editor, acting on the reflection that a naught, more or less, made little difference, added to the importance of the item by increasing the find to $500. In the same office the correspondent of the Associated Press abided. The item was passed to the patrons of that great news-gathering agency, but with the added improvement of a naught. Mr. Longsdorf's distant and remote relatives, some as far away as Germany, immediately sat up and took notice and he was the recipient of many kind and congratulatory letters over his good fortune. Years passed, and the incident was forgotten by its original chronicler until one day he happened to pick up a family story paper, and among the flotsam and jetsam headed, "Items of Interest" he observed the following interesting bit of news:

"William Longsdorf, an aged and eccentric bachelor of Beeville, Tex., has just found $50,000 in bank notes in an old boot, where he had placed them years ago and forgotten the incident."

But, most unfortunate of all! When Mr. Longsdorf took his $50 note to the village bank to get it changed, the cashier was dubious of its looks, and forwarded it for inspection to the nearest subtreasury. It was returned with the following legend stamped across its face: "Counterfeit."—[Bryan's Commoner.]

HUSBAND GAVE WIFE A DIVORCE

To Marry the Man of Her Choice.

NOW COUPLE CARE FOR HIM

Wife Grew Uneasy About the Welfare of Her Former Husband.

NOW REGARDED AS CHILDREN

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 21.—Not many women would have the courage to make a home happy for a husband and an ex-husband at the same time. But that is just what Mrs. W. A. Wilson, who was formerly Mrs. A. W. Luce, is trying to do now at her home at 1056 North street, St. Francis avenue.

According to Mrs. Luce's own account of the novel situation, when she was a very young girl she married A. W. Luce. He was many years older than his wife. Two years ago Mrs. Luce met W. A. Wilson, a young man about her own age. The two fell in love.

When Luce found it out, and that he could not make his wife happy, he offered to let her get a divorce so that she could marry young Wilson. She finally agreed. Wilson had gone to Los Angeles, and when the divorce was granted last June, Mrs. Luce went to Los Angeles and married Wilson.

Her traveling expenses were paid by her former husband, and she carried with her a sum of money as a wedding gift from him. He is wealthy.

According to the laws of California the marriage was legal. However, it was not legal under the Kansas laws, which provide that a divorced person must not marry inside of six months. At the time of the wedding all three parties concerned thought it was perfectly legal.

After Mrs. Wilson had been in California a few months she grew homesick. Finally she could no longer bear to think that her former husband, who had been so kind to her, might be needing her to take care of him as old age crept on. So she wrote to Mr. Luce and he went to Los Angeles. The three then made a home in the Western city until the first of this month, when they came back to Wichita to live in the pretty bungalow of Mr. Luce. To legalize the marriage the young couple went to Newton and were remarried at the court house. Mr. Luce says that the younger couple seem like children to him, and that he wants to have them with him while he lives and see them happy.

WHY HUMANS ARE NOT
MONKEYS—SOUL PRINCIPLE

Another eminent scientist is devoting his talent and industry to the task of associating mankind with the monkey tribe or tribes, and of proving that, if the monkey is not a man, he is at least a near relative. With all due respect for the noted scientist in question, we beg to suggest that perhaps the study of monkeys and the effort to connect them with the human race can be carried a little too far. It is not disputed—perhaps it is beyond dispute—that the monkey is physically related to mankind; but in the soul, the divinity of mind and intellect, the monkey seems to be just as distant from men, just as far below human beings, as most of the four-footed animals. Indeed, some insects—the ant, for example—shows far more intelligence than the monkey. It is simply the fact that the monkey is a hideous caricature of man that makes it interesting—but it is nothing more than a caricature.

HEIRESS WEDS COP
WHO SAVED HER LIFE

New York, Jan. 20.—Announcement is made here of the marriage of Miss Giulda P. Morosini, daughter of the late Giovanni P. Morosini, a multi-millionaire banker, to Arthur Werner. The groom a few months ago was a New York traffic policeman whose beat included the Harlem speedway.

While on duty one morning he espied a runaway team that was being driven by Miss Morosini. Werner stopped the horses at the risk of his life, but in the excitement he disappeared before Miss Morosini learned his name.

Her father, to show gratitude to the man who had saved his daughter from death, went to the speedway police station the next day with Miss Morosini, who picked out Werner from among the platoon of mounted men.

A short time after the runaway Werner received an invitation to call at the Morosini home. The acquaintance thus formed progressed rapidly and an engagement was announced a few days ago.

Miss Morosini was the chief legatee under her father's will, receiving an estate estimated at $10,000,000.

SANDERFUR GETS A LONG PEN SENTENCE

Found Guilty of Grave Offense by Jury—His Wife Had Left Him.

Calhoun, Ky., Jan. 18.—After having had the case for nearly twenty-four hours, and after considering the matter for almost twelve hours, the jury in the Sanderfur case returned a verdict of guilty this afternoon about 2 o'clock, finding Sanderfur guilty of having had criminal relations with Ruth Smith, the feeble-minded daughter of J. F. Smith, a prominent liveryman of the Beech Grove vicinity, and fixed his punishment at ten years in the penitentiary. The jury received the case Tuesday shortly after noon, and for awhile it was believed the members of the jury would disagree, as they were closeted until late Tuesday night. It is understood the jury agreed that he was guilty, but that there was some disagreement as to the number of years he should be imprisoned for the crime.

The case has attracted considerable attention because of the prominence of all parties concerned, and the court room was crowded again to-day. The verdict of the jury was received without any manifestation of feeling among the spectators.

Sanderfur is a member of a prominent Beech Grove family, and is well known in that locality. After the charge had been preferred against him, however, his wife secured an absolute divorce and refused to have anything to do with him.

Saved Two Lives.

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living to-day, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery," writes A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C., R. F. D. No. 8, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough, all bronchial troubles—it's the supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by James H. THE PROBLEM OF MODERN DIVORCE

One of the Most Serious
Confronting Us.

ONE DIVORCE TO EVERY 500

Married Couples in This Country,
According to Census of 1900.

A FEW SUGGESTIVE REMEDIES

According to the census of 1890, there was a married population in the United States of 22,447,769, with an annual average of 33,197 divorces. That is, there was one divorce to every 676 of married population. According to the census of 1900, there was a married population of 27,770,101, with an annual divorce record of 55,502, or one divorce to every 500 of married population. Between 1887 and 1906 the record of divorces reached the amazing total of 945,625. Nearly a million American marriages went to pieces in twenty years. That is, disruption overtook 47,281 marriages a year, 3,940 a month—more than 130 a day.

No one section of the country produces a much larger divorce crop than another. Louisiana, with its large Catholic population, Mormon Utah, and Unitarian Massachusetts furnish similar figures. More broadly speaking, the divorce rate rises as we cross the map westward, but, on the whole, the rate is fairly even throughout the country. The rate is slightly larger in cities than in the country, but divorce is by no means a city problem.

It is astonishing to find that divorce laws, stringent or liberal, affect the rate very slightly. New Hampshire, Utah and South Dakota show almost exactly the same proportion of divorces per population and per marriages. New York with its one cause for divorce and New Jersey with its half dozen causes, show a rate nearly identical.

The solution of our divorce problem lies in securing a better relation between men and women in every department of life. It is an anomaly in this Republic that there should be any distinctions on account of sex. It is absurd that women should receive lower wages than men for equal work performed or equal service given. It is unfair to deny women their share in public housekeeping. It is unjust to tax them and at the same time refuse them citizenship.

American women are as well educated, as intelligent, as moral, as conscientious, and, within their opportunities, as efficient as American men. Once this is fully recognized; once the last vestige of sex prejudice and sex contempt vanishes from custom and from the statute books; once the same standard of morals is recognized in society as it is in the law; once it is made at least as easy for women as for men to earn an honorable living; once marriage on absolutely equal terms is made possible—no moral or physical advantage on the side of the husband, no pharisaism allowed on the part of the wife—

Then it will be perfectly safe to attach a divorce coupon to every marriage certificate, with permission for both parties to tear it off at will.—[Rheta Childe Dorr in the January Forum.]

AVIATOR ALIGHTS ON DECK OF BIG SHIP

After Flying Twelve Miles—Accomplishes the Feat
With Ease.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—Aviator Ely started from Selfridge Field, twelve miles south of the city, at 10:45 o'clock this morning to make an attempt to land on the deck of the cruiser Pennsylvania, anchored in San Francisco bay.

Sixteen minutes later Ely landed upon the deck of the Pennsylvania.

At 11:58 Ely left the ship on his return flight. He made a fine getaway and, flying at great speed, was soon lost to view in the haze.

The air was smoky as Ely was flying toward the Pennsylvania and at brief intervals a short note was sounded from the warship's siren to guide him.

The aviator flew through the cruiser's aqueduct very close to the water. He approached the Pennsylvania from her bows, swept past her for a few hundred yards and then circled back, mounting slowly and settling lightly on the big platform that covered the ship's after-deck and projected far out over the stern.

He landed so lightly that his biplane was barely shaken. His Curtiss biplane was especially prepared for the experiment.

Ely returned to Selfridge field from the Pennsylvania at 12:13 o'clock, having been absent from the grounds about one hour and a half.

What To Do —FOR— Sickly Children

Letters from Mothers

"I wish I could induce every mother, who has a delicate, sickly child, to try your delicious Cod Liver and Iron Tonic VINOL. It restored our little daughter to health and strength after everything else had failed."—Mrs. C. W. STUMP, Canton, Ohio.

Mrs. F. P. Skonnard, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes, "I want to recommend VINOL to every mother who has a weak or sickly child. My little boy was sickly, pale, and had no appetite for two years. I tried different medicines and doctors without benefit, but thanks to VINOL, he is a well and healthy boy to-day."

C. Allen, of New Bedford, Mass., writes, "My two puny children gained rapidly in flesh and strength in a very short time after taking VINOL."

We positively know VINOL will build up little ones and make them healthy, strong and robust. Try one bottle, and if you are not satisfied, we will return your money.

Democrats everywhere are championing for Champ Clark to take his seat.

It is said that an onion a day keeps the doctors away. (Also others.)

John Calico killed his first cousin, near Buckeye, Ky., over some whiskey and immediately faded away.

The Democrats and Insurgents in Congress have certainly had a great time romping on Uncle Joe's neck.

No, gentle reader, Atlee Pomerene is not a new variety of apple, but just a new United States Senator-elect.

It is said that if you want to thrive in this world and get rich, all you need is a hard heart and a good digestion.

It is encouraging to know that most of the fourteen States through which Col. Roosevelt proposes to make a trip are already Democratic.

After a fellow has saved up money enough to buy an aeroplane, about the first sensible thing he ought to do with it would be to sell it.

Twenty-one members of the Colorado Legislature have signed an agreement to prevent the election of a United States Senator until the platform pledges of the Democratic party have been enacted into law.

There are indications that the most promising Congress for a score of years has lost its dynamic force six weeks before its end, as but little of the legislation begun in December is likely to be enacted before adjournment.

Governor-elect Ben W. Hooper, Republican, will be inaugurated at Nashville, Tenn., to-day, with much pomp of circumstance. It sounds strange that Tennessee should have a Republican Governor, and there is no reason that such should be the case only an unfortunate and senseless wrangle among Democrats.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan, the great Commoner, will deliver his most popular lecture, "The Prince of Peace," at Madisonville, Ky., on the afternoon of February 20, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. "The Prince of Peace" is the most beautiful piece of imagery Mr. Bryan ever wrote, and this, coupled with the fact that he himself will deliver it, makes the occasion one of especial moment to all lovers of religious sentiment put into entrancing words.

At last it turns out that Henry Youtsey—no devil—was guilty of all that Goebel assassination business, in fact the only guilty one of the whole bunch of accused assassins. That is, this seems to be the conclusion arrived at by our sagacious and far-seeing Governor, Willson. Of course the Chief Executive could not have arrived at this fixed and unerring opinion only by reading the testimony and all the facts in the case, according to his usual announced custom before rendering a decision. Selah.

The Hartford Republican seems to object very seriously to the words "YOUNG Republicans," as typifying the spirit of a meeting recently held in Louisville, and proceeds to take this element of its party out behind the house and read them a lesson of a column on their temerity to assume any special recognition in party affairs. In language read "between the lines" they are cautioned to go back and sit down and wait until they are called upon for leadership. The young element of every political party is its essential strength, and they deserve every recognition worthy their numbers.

CHAMP CLARK'S BOOM FOR PRESIDENCY IS REAL

Washington, Jan. 22.—Champ Clark's Presidential boom is a reality. Whether it will live and grow until the nominating convention of his party a year and a half hence, will depend upon several conditions, the most important being the wisdom displayed by the House in solving the problems in which the people are so much interested.

Shorn of power, largely voluntarily, Champ Clark in the next House will be unable to dominate through the rules, but will have an opportunity to show real leadership by steering his party clear of the shoals and rocks.

Democratic leaders out of Congress, attracted to the party gathering in Baltimore last week, who came to Washington to follow the caucus of the Democratic members of the next House, were impressed with the strength among his colleagues shown by Clark and did not hesitate to say that he must be reckoned along with Harmon, Willson and others as available Presidential timber.

IMPORTANT PLACE FOR BEN JOHNSON

Washington, Jan. 23.—On excellent authority it is learned that Representative Ben Johnson, of the Fourth District, has been selected by the House Democratic leaders to head the important District of Columbia Committee in the next House.

These chairmanship selections are made without regard to a member's intention to serve, no provision being made for the fact that if Mr. Johnson is elected Governor of Kentucky he will not be in the next House. The place is one of the most important in the House.

Mr. Johnson has been a member of the committee for some years, and his work has been of such a character that the Washington public service corporations would be pleased to see him elected in Kentucky rather than remain here to regulate them.

"SEEING THE WORLD" AND MET A TRAGIC DEATH

Fulton, Ky., Jan. 21.—Frank Baucom, son of a wealthy Seattle business man, died to-night from the effects of a bullet wound in his abdomen sustained last night during an altercation with Lee Carter, a restaurant keeper, who had ejected Baucom from his restaurant. Surgeons were summoned from Paducah this morning to perform an operation on Baucom in hope of saving his life, but he died several hours later. Carter is in jail.

Baucom reached Fulton only yesterday afternoon on his way to New Orleans, having left college at Champaign, Ill., "to see the world." Shortly before his death Baucom wrote a pathetic message to his parents, seeking forgiveness.

BOY OF 9 HANGING IN PLAYHOUSE OF GANG

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 21.—Foster Campbell, 9 years old, was found dead to-night hanging from a rafter of the shack which the boys of the neighborhood had built for a playhouse, the position of the body indicating that he had been murdered. The body was in a kneeling position, with the legs resting on the ground. The roof of the shack was so high that it would have been impossible for the boy to have fastened the rope and hanged himself.

For several days it is said the boys had been quarreling among themselves as to the question of precedence in the gang.

The police have no clue upon which to base an arrest. Several of the boys of the neighborhood have been questioned but all deny any knowledge of the crime.

ARRESTED AT BUFFALO CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Buffalo, Jan. 20.—Wanted by the police of Owensboro, Ky., where he lives, and by the authorities of Bellefontaine, O., William O. Hall was arrested here this afternoon by Detective Sergeant Holmlund. It is said he committed several thefts at Owensboro and burglary at Bellefontaine. The prisoner had a letter in his pocket, when searched, from his mother, warning him to remain away from Owensboro, as a warrant had been issued for his arrest. He is held here pending instructions from the Owensboro police.

NOT A GOOD START FOR THE LINCOLN INSTITUTE

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian says:

A triple lynching of negroes the first year after the Lincoln Institute, the colored industrial school, was located in Shelby county, over the protest of the white people, is not a good start. It has been only ten years since there was a double lynching from the same convenient bridge. The Lincoln Institute has been unfortunately located in the wrong place. The white race doesn't want to surrender Shelby county.

And Laud Him for President—Enthusiasm Manifest Everywhere.

NEW YORK MEMBER READ OUT

Washington, Jan. 19.—Champ Clark was chosen Speaker of the next House of Representatives and given a rousing ovation on the mention of his name for the Presidency; the Ways and Means Committee, previously agreed upon, was chosen to name the standing committees and frame the tariff legislation for early action by the next Congress; a New York member was read out of the party; a list of resolutions and host of speakers—these were features of to-night's caucus by the Democratic members of the incoming House.

There were only eight absentees among the old and new Democrats of the Sixty-second Congress. The program arranged by the leaders was carried out almost to the letter, all the members, however, being given latitude in debate.

Underwood, of Alabama, long a lieutenant of Clark, heads the new Ways and Means Committee. In a statement he said his new committee would meet immediately following the close of the present Congress and would be fully prepared to bring in a tariff bill at the reassembling of Congress in December.

The caucus developed considerable difference of views as to the method of selecting the committees, but when the time came for voting, the various resolutions were voted down. The Fitzgerald resolution to leave the committee appointments in the Speaker's hands lost, 29 to 166, and Means Committee passed, 166 to 7. The caucus lasted four hours and a half.

ANOTHER ARREST IN PROVIDENCE MURDER CASE

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 20.—Kerney Benjamin, 22 years of age, son of J. B. Benjamin, a wealthy merchant of Providence, was arrested to-night at Dixon, the county seat, charged with the murder of Henry T. Thompson, of Providence, who was found shot to death on December 26.

The warrant was sworn out by a Nashville detective who has been shadowing Benjamin for several days. It was with Benjamin that young Thompson, who was tried and acquitted yesterday of the guilty knowledge of his father's murder, spent the night preceding the day of the murder. It is said that there will be sensational developments in the case within the new few days.

Young Benjamin declares that he can prove a complete alibi, and in this he is supported by his father.

UNION.

Jan. 23.—A revival meeting is in progress at the Baptist Church of Beaver Dam. There have been several professions.

Misses Bessie and Jessie Smith, of this neighborhood, are visiting their sister at Beaver Dam.

Miss Ala Gray, who has been attending the meeting at Beaver Dam, returned home Sunday.

Mr. Robert Jackson has gone to Bowling Green with some mules to sell.

School is progressing nicely. We have four more weeks yet.

Mr. Esker Coleman has returned to a point near Prentiss.

Mr. Harry Woods went to Beaver Dam Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Williams is improving.

Death of J. T. Litsey.

J. T. Litsey died at his home at Whitesville, Ky., recently, of heart disease. He had been in failing health for about a year. He was seventy years old the day he died, and lived in Whitesville forty-one years. He was born in Grayson county in the Short Creek neighborhood. There he grew to young manhood and married, but soon left his native heath and took up his residence in Daviess county, where he lived till his death.

TRIED TO SAVE TRUNK—BURNS PROVED FATAL

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 22.—In an attempt to save his trunk, containing all of his savings, from the flames when his home was destroyed by fire Christmas night, at Kirksey, Calloway county, Charles Beach, a well known farmer, received burns which to-day resulted in his death. He had several hundred dollars in the trunk, representing his savings of several years. The trunk and contents were destroyed. Neighbors raised a purse to care and treat him during his suffering.

Mrs. Ellen Barnett Dead.

Mrs. Ellen Barnett died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. John Lindley, near Livermore, last Friday morning, of old age and troubles incident thereto. Her husband preceded her to the brighter world a number of years ago. She leaves four children, all grown and married, as follows: Messrs. Sam Barnett, of Hartford, and Simpson Barnett, of McLean county; Mrs. John Lindley, at whose residence she died, and Mrs. Ora Stevens, who lives at some point in Colorado. Her remains were interred at the Carson cemetery, Noreek, Sunday. She had been a member of the Methodist Church for many years and was a most excellent woman.

Accidentally Killed.

News has been received from Mr. W. P. Downs, formerly of this county, but now residing at Taylorville, Ill., that his son Jesse was accidentally killed. The young man was out hunting with his brother-in-law when the gun of the latter was accidentally discharged, the full load striking young Downs in the back and killing him instantly. The young man had been married only three weeks. This is the third sad bereavement for the elder Downs, as several years ago his wife died and his son Evan got drowned. He has the sympathy of his many friends and relatives here.

REACH AGREEMENT AS TO RECIPROCITY

Between United States and Canada—Formalities Are About Completed.

Washington, Jan. 21.—With the simple announcement that an understanding had been reached and that certain formalities probably would be completed by Thursday, the commissioners representing the United States and Canada in the negotiations for a reciprocal trade agreement, adjourned to-day.

The official statement is as follows:

"The negotiators have reached an understanding which, when certain formalities are completed, will be made public at Washington and Ottawa. It is thought this may be done next Thursday."

Asked if Secretary Knox and the other American commissioners would go to Ottawa to "complete the formalities," the commissioners merely replied that to answer that question or any other, would be a violation of confidence contained in the understanding agreed upon.

IS SURVIVED BY WIFE AND THIRTEEN CHILDREN

J. B. Hill, an aged and well known farmer of Ohio county, died of apoplexy of the lungs, superinduced by grip, Sunday, at his home in the Magan vicinity. He had been confined to his bed for eight weeks.

The deceased was 72 years old, having been born in Edmondson county, 18 miles from Brownsville, January 29, 1838, and moved to Ohio county in the year 1893. He had been married three times, 13 children having been born to him. A widow and all the children survive.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Eld. W. B. Wright will preach at the Christian Church next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at 2:30 p. m. Prayer meeting and lecture by Pastor on Sunday School lesson for following Sunday, every Friday night.

Everybody invited to attend each service.

Crawford-Cooksey.

Mr. J. O. Cooksey and Miss Bertha May Crawford were married at the bride's home last Sunday. Miss Crawford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Crawford, Olaton, and Mr. Cooksey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cooksey, Olaton. They are both very popular young people, who have the best wishes of their numerous friends.

son & St. Louis and Illinois Central Railway crossing at Owensboro, had his right hand cut off by a circular saw. Young Gray was working on the saw, and, in some unknown manner, got his hand caught in front of the saw on the carriage. It was severed at the wrist before he could pull his hand away from the saw. He was taken to his home on the Leitchfield road, and later removed to the city hospital, where an operation was performed. When last heard from young Gray was resting well, and will no doubt recover unless complications set in.

What They Were For.
A row of shoe horns hanging on the pantry wall of the small restaurant provoked curiosity in the mind of the new waiter.

"What are they for?" he asked.

"You will find out at dinner time," said the man questioned.

At 9 o'clock that evening the new waiter made a quick dive into the pantry and snatched a shoe horn from the wall.

"Woman out there slipped her shoe off while eating and can't get it on again," he said.

"I told you you would soon find out what all those shoe horns are for," said the waiter of experience.—New York Sun.

Webster Was Willing.
When Daniel Webster's market man had sued him for a long unpaid bill and got his money he was so scared at his temerity that he stopped calling at the door for orders. The godlike Daniel asked him why one day, and the man confessed that he supposed Mr. Webster would never trade with him again. "Oh," said Webster, "sue me as often as you like, but for heaven's sake don't starve me." There was never a time when the great man was not willing to owe as much as anybody was willing to let him owe.

The Volcano Circle.
Volcanoes would seem to be arranged with more or less symmetry in belts circling the great oceans. A ring of fire surrounds the Pacific. Starting at the South Shetland Islands, several hundred miles south of Cape Horn, a belt of volcanoes extends up the west coast of South America, Central America and North America; from Alaska it crosses the Pacific along the Aleutian Islands to Kamchatka; thence it follows the east edge of the Pacific through the Kurile Islands, Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, the Moluccas, the Solomon Islands, the North Hebrides, New Zealand and finally ends in Mounts Terror and Erebus, on the Antarctic continent.

BEAVER DAM.
Jan. 24.—The meeting at the Baptist Church closed Sunday. The visible results were 27 added to the church, 10 by baptism.

The damp weather has given the farmers of this vicinity a chance to strip their tobacco and most all are done delivering. All report good prices and are well pleased with the graders at Hartford.

Wheat is looking well since the pleasant spell of weather of late.

Mr. J. R. Hazelrigg, who has been confined to his home for some time of typhoid fever, we are glad to see on the streets again.

Mr. John King, wife and son, who have been in New Mexico for a year, have returned to our town to make their future home.

The Bank Examiner of the State was in town a day last week and after a thorough examination of the Beaver Dam Deposit Bank, reports that it was in the best condition of any bank he ever examined.

OLATON.

Jan. 23.—Rev. Birch Shields, of Beaver Dam, will begin a protracted meeting at this place to-night.

Mr. Odie Cooksey, of this place, and Miss Essie Crawford, of near Friedaland, were quietly married at the bride's home yesterday at 2:30 o'clock. We wish them much pleasure and success through life.

The freight train on the I. C. R. R. was wrecked at Whitesville Saturday evening. No one hurt; only turned over five box cars.

Mr. W. H. Lyons, of this place, is the guest of relatives at Owensboro.

Mr. J. W. Miller and family, of Friedaland, were the guests of Mr. C. B. Lyons and family, of this place, yesterday.

Miss Stella Daniel, of this place, went to Owensboro recently on business.

Veteran of Two Wars Dead.

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 22.—Col. Henry Buchanan died last night, aged 87 years. He was a Mexican War veteran and a Confederate soldier, and one of the wealthiest men in Western Kentucky. For fifty years he was a prominent merchant and was president of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, and celebrated his sixtieth wedding anniversary three years ago.

Dean, Dundee; Warren Shields and Hallie Smith, Cromwell, and Sam Morton, Ceralvo, were among our callers Monday.

Jesse Carter, of color, lost his residence by fire last Monday afternoon. He had come from Hayti to his work at the light plant. His wife accompanied him to town, leaving their three children at home. Most all the contents of the house was saved by the neighbors. The loss is estimated at $500 with no insurance. It is not known how the fire started.

Mr. L. A. McDaniel, formerly of this county but now residing in East St. Louis, Ill., is spending a few days with his friends in this county and was in Hartford last week to see his kinsman, Judge J. B. Wilson, and also spent some time with Judge J. E. Fogle. Mr. McDaniel has a large circle of friends in Ohio county, and all are glad to see him. He will leave this week for his home.

Called for Trial This Morning.

We learned over the long distance telephone yesterday afternoon that the examining trial of Kerney Benjamin, charged with the murder of Henry Thompson, was passed until this morning on account of absent witnesses, when called for trial Tuesday morning.

ROUGH RIVER TO BE STOCKED WITH FISH

Congressman Johnson Has Arranged to Have Stream Well Supplied.

Our Congressman, Hon. Ben Johnson, who is always doing something for his constituents, has arranged with the Bureau of Fisheries at Washington to plant in Rough river enough black bass for brood stock to insure fine fishing. The Department at Washington has entered the order and will fill it by sending an expert here with the fish, not earlier than April 1st, next.

In order to get the fish, Congressman Johnson and his local friends have pledged the department that the citizens here and elsewhere on the river will give their moral support to the enforcement of the fish laws against netting and trapping fish. Especially should all farmers owning rivulets and small streams—tributaries to the river—abandon fishing and seining in such streams. The young fish coming from Washington frequent these tributaries for protection from big fish, and when they are large enough, they spawn or hatch. Unless the plant is protected at these places, great injury will be done the project, while with proper care and the enforcement of the law, together with the help and good will of the public, we may reasonably expect old-time fishing in Rough river, which was once so famous for its bass.

Our Government has the finest fisheries in the world which have been in existence over fifty years. Our river is ideal for bass, yet Mr. Johnson is the pioneer Congressman in the matter of stocking our river with this fish. Nearly 40 years ago Congressman McKenzie had a few German carp planted in the river, but this experiment was a failure and badly advised, since carp is a stagnant water fish—a helpless sort, much preyed on by members of the fish family—and that plant was supposed to have been soon devoured by the game fish of the river.

We think Congressman Johnson takes good care of his constituency and that it will be no mistake for the good Democrats of the State to see that he wins out in the present friendly rivalry for the nomination for Governor. He is young, active, able and an all-round capable good man.

CITY ORDINANCE.

The City Council of the City of Hartford, Ky., do ordain as follows:

That the tax rate for general purposes in said city for the ensuing year be and the same is fixed at forty-three cents on each one hundred dollars ($100) of taxable property in said city, as shown by the assessment of the City Assessor as of date, September 15, 1910, and equalized by the Board of Equalization, and $1.50 poll tax on each male resident of said city over 21 years of age and $1.00 on each dog in said city or owned by a resident of said city.

Said tax is levied for the purpose of paying off and discharging the balance of any indebtedness that may be owing by said city, and for the further purpose of maintaining and improving the streets and alleys, street lights, salaries of officers and employees and all other incidental expenses of said city government.

That the tax rate for the purpose of paying interest on the sewer bonds and creating a sinking fund for the final redemption of said bonds, be and same is fixed at thirty-two cents on each one hundred dollars ($100) of taxable property in said city as shown by the assessment of the City Assessor as of date, September 15, 1910, and equalized by the Board of Equalization.

It is further ordered that all of said tax shall be due and payable on the first day of February, 1911, and if not paid on or before the first day of April, 1911, a penalty of 6 per centum shall be added to same and collected with said tax by the marshal of said city; then upon all taxes unpaid upon the first day of each month thereafter an additional 1/2 of 1 per cent. shall be added and collected by the said marshal.

Approved January 12, 1911.

GREEN RIVER DISTRICT A. S. OF E. TO MEET

In Owensboro on Thursday, February 2d—All are Urged to Attend.

Owing to certain action that was taken at the late State Convention held in Bowling Green on Jan. 11-12th, the meeting of the Green River District A. S. of E. will be one of very great importance. Not only will it be important for all locals to send delegates, but we assure you that our time will be well and profitably spent if you will throw aside your work for once and attend this meeting, whether you are a delegate or not.

Our plans are being perfected for a great co-operative movement along Equity lines over this State, and especially should every man in Daviess county come to Owensboro on the date of this meeting. There is something for you to do and we believe you are ready to do it. The general condition of the A. S. of E. in this district will be considered, the acreage and pooling proposition will be discussed and steps taken in some way, so if you want to know in what way, it will be best for you to be present.

Remember the meeting will be called to order at 9 o'clock, Thursday, February 2, so be on hand. We suggest, if you are not in easy reach of the city, that you come in the evening before, and take part in the informal meeting that will be held in the parlors of the Roby Hotel the night before.

We hope Ohio county will turn in not less than forty or fifty members, Hancock just as many, as you are in easy access by having railroad facilities. McLean always comes, even though she may have to drive in through the mud, rain and snow. So remember the date and come early and be prepared to stay till the work is done. Respectfully,

W. P. STEVENS, Pres.

S. B. ROBERTSON, Sec'y.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

The dead are forgiven because they are forgotten.

You can fool a fool the same way three or four times.

Did you ever see two left-handed persons shake hands?

The average man is too easily influenced by the encores.

A boy may look like his mother, but he will act like his father.

We wouldn't be a Prodigal Son for the little fatted calf there is in it.

If you hear anything good about a man, tell it; be that sort of a gossip.

Every lazy man thinks he would be a noted hustler if he would let himself out.

Most people believe that as a last resort they can keep a hotel or run a newspaper.

A parrot's talk seems to be a good deal like a baby's—intelligible only to its owner.

When a man is crazy about one thing, he is usually a little off about everything else.

You can make a mystery out of anything that happens after 12 o'clock at night.

When a woman sees a man off at the train she thinks she is making a real fuss over him.

Even if a man has nerve, he dislikes for occasion to arise when it is necessary to use it.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who referred to his legs as "Shanks' mares"?

A good rabbit dog and a good pool player may be added to our list of interesting paradoxes.

Nearly everyone is more willing to assume responsibility than he is to uphold it after he gets it.

It is a good, old-fashioned rule, in listening to gossip, that any one who will bring, will carry.

Most people have seen worse things in private than they pretend to be shocked at in public.

Some poor people have nerve that would make them rich if directed at dollars instead of doughnuts.

Every minister probably thinks he is handicapped in his work by the poor singing of his choir.

Probably a widower enjoys a second wife as much as a widow enjoys her husband's life insurance.

It is a great deal more satisfactory and respectable to bury a husband than to get a divorce from one.

People don't regard any sickness as very serious that doesn't cause them to take off their clothes.

Although it is polite to say a girl is led to the altar, you will observe that she never pulls back much.

When an announcement of a new baby appears, the women always ask: "How old is the other one?"

There are plenty of people who will not believe sworn testimony, but who will believe unsupported gossip.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who said every boy was worth $5, because it purified your blood?

The man who works as little as possible never gets along as well as the man who works as much as possible.

If a woman's daughters hang on too long, she says a girl who marries before she is 30 is robbed of her girlhood.

As a general rule, when a statesman fails to attract attention in any other way, he succeeds by refusing to wear a dress suit.

There are all kinds of people in the world, including a few who imagine that they are good singers when they get drunk.

Although all men are created equal, they outgrow that a good deal quicker than they do any of their other youthful characteristics.

The poor man who says it is no disgrace to be poor, and says it frequently, drops the remark in a way which suggests that it is a disgrace to be rich.

A man rather enjoys being told that he is devilish until he is 30 years old; after that he feels like smashing anyone who calls him devilish.—[Atchison (Kan.) Globe.]

HOPKINSVILLE GIRL MARRIES IN CHICAGO

Wedded to Man Who Had a Strenuous Time to Escape the Gallows.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Knut O. Knudson, who was acquitted in 1907 of the charge that he murdered his wife, was married Tuesday at midnight to Miss Addie Morris, of Hopkinsville, Ky. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Keene Ryan, pastor of the Garfield avenue Presbyterian church.

Knudson was accused of having poisoned his wife in the summer of 1907 and his trial in Chicago attracted national attention. He was a rich contractor residing in West Pullman, and his life was saved from the gallows only by the heroic efforts of friends, who stuck to him. The trial lasted six weeks, and was the most bitterly contested trial ever held in Illinois. The verdict was "not guilty."

He lost his fortune in the affray, but has since redeemed it and is again a very wealthy man. The bride, who is a beautiful woman, comes from a fine family in Hopkinsville. She left for Hopkinsville after the ceremony to be at the bedside of her father, who is at the point of death. Knudson met Miss Morris a few weeks ago, and it was love at first sight. They will reside at the Knudson home in Chicago.

The trial of Knudson was one of the most spectacular ever witnessed in Cook county. The State spent a fortune trying to hang him and he spent over $100,000 in his defense, and lost every cent he had. The expert testimony of the State cost Illinois $40,000.

Miss Morris is only twenty-three years of age and Knudson is forty-two. She left Hopkinsville about six months ago to make her home in Chicago.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is a household word in every State in the Union as well as in several foreign countries. For grip, coughs, colds, asthma and throat troubles it is the best. Sold everywhere. Look for the Bell on the bottle.

CONVENTION TO NOMINATE RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 12.—The Democratic Executive Committee of the First Railroad district met here this afternoon and called a district delegate convention, to be held at Bowling Green on August 15, to select the Democratic nominee for Railroad Commissioner. Delegates to this convention are to be selected at county mass conventions to be held on Saturday, August 12.

All candidates must file written notice of such intention with the committee by June 3.

The committee will meet again on June 9, and if there is only one candidate entered, they will call off the convention and declare him the nominee.

Lawrence Finn, of Simpson county, the present Commissioner, is the only announced candidate now, and it is not thought he will have opposition.

Have you a weak throat? If so, you cannot be too careful. You cannot begin treatment too early. Each cold makes you more liable to another and the last is always the harder to cure. If you will take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the outset you will be saved much trouble. Sold by all dealers.

An Act of Necessity.

A correspondent writes in to correct a story printed in this paper several days ago. "In that snake story I sent you," he complains, "you made one mistake. I told you that the snake was twenty feet long and you had it only ten feet long."

We are sorry for this, but the error was unavoidable. We were very much crowded for space when we used the story and we had to cut everything down.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

The Herald's Special Selections.

THE PATH TO YESTERDAY.

There's a path that leads to Yesterday—you know it; A rambling path of blossoms and perfume;

You remember how the wild grapes overgrew it To the house upon the hilltop deep in bloom.

There's a path that leads to Yesterday through flowers, Where the wood thrush is a voice of magic song;

Where the cricket snaps its fairy whip for hours And a barefoot boy goes whistling all day long.

There's a path that leads to Yesterday through dingles Of the forest, where the wood pool is an eye.

And the sunbeam is a twinkle soft that mingles With the gladness of a girl who dances by.

There's a path that leads to Yesterday, a glimmer With the pearl and purple footsteps of the dust.

Where the first star leaps and flashes like a swimmer, On the violet verge of twilight washed with musk.

There's a path that leads to Yesterday that's haunted With the shadows of old memories of bliss,

And the ghosts of loves that roamed there once, who counted Every moment by a heartbeat or a kiss.

Oh, the path that leads to Yesterday! It's calling! Don't you hear it? How it calls through many things!

Through its roses, like the memories now falling, And the dreamlike nestward fluttering of wings.

On the path that leads to Yesterday we've started; Hear it calling with its many whippoorwills,

Like the voices of old happiness departed, Through the darkness where the moon rests on the hills.

$1,000 DOLL HOUSE FOR RICH MAN'S DAUGHTER

A three-story doll house, costing $1,000, and rich enough in its appointments and furnishings to excite the envy of any millionaire's child, was the Christmas gift of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines, of Evanston, to their six-year-old daughter, Loretta.

The house, built at the Luncford studio, is a miniature reproduction of a seventeen-room house. All the furnishings and fixtures were imported from Germany.

It is of the Southern colonial exterior, in yellow and white, and is lighted by electricity throughout. A large reception hall is seen at the entrance and winding stairways lead to the third floor.

To the right on the first floor is located the living room, a spacious room, trimmed in American Beauty red, containing bookcases, library tables, sofas, writing desks and console mirrors.

The music room on the second floor is the gem of the interior work. It is a DuBarry room, finished in red and gold, and contains a piano, center table, sofas, console mirrors and a fireplace.

All the bedrooms are en suite, and the details are carried out even to jardinières and waste baskets. A large ballroom occupies half of the third floor.—[Chicago Examiner.]

OLD MONEY CIRCULATES CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Increasing numbers of soiled bills are being returned to Washington for redemption. A. Cressy Morrison, of Chicago, still carries on with enthusiasm a campaign against "filthy lucre," filthy in the literal sense of the word, when represented by the bills commonly used in present day transactions of business, says the National magazine.

The results of a thorough analysis of twenty-four of the worst bills returned are startling. There were germs of grip, tuberculosis, diphtheria and other contagious diseases. Mr. Morrison claims that the examinations made for typhoid and cholera germs in drinking water should be applied to bills. When Mr. Hill, of Yale, examined twenty-four bills he discovered an average of 142,000 bacteria of various dangerous maladies, which it is considered that this money had passed through the hands of thousands of men, women and children all over the country. It has been proven scientifically that paper money is a means of transmission of disease. Germs of tuberculosis and other contagious disorders may live for several days in bills.

SPECIAL NOTICE

in regard to OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written at the behest of lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of two cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word, straight. This is the smallest rate we charge for anything and is only one-fifth of our regular rate. The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word.

Our old rule in regard to Obituaries, &c. was 150 words free, balance a cent a word, but this did not prove satisfactory because the bounds were almost always overstepped, and we have been forced to adopt this new rule, which is in effect from now on. Contributors will please remember.

Foley's Kidney Remedy—An Appreciation.

L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. A 96-Page Diary for Our Readers.

We take pleasure in announcing that our readers can secure a pretty 96-page diary for 1911 by sending 4 one-cent stamps to D. Swift & Co., Patent Lawyers, Washington, D. C. This diary is worth 25 cents; contains a note space and date for each day in the year, 1910 census of the States, and 300 of the largest cities, a synopsis of valuable everyday information, business forms, business laws, patent laws, postage rates, and the amount of corn, wheat, oats, tobacco and cotton produced in each State and a calendar for 1911 and 1912.

A Medicine

That lives ten years must have merit. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has been sold for sixteen years, and sales have increased every year. So you run no risk. We guarantee it. At all dealers.

Indications.

"John," said Mrs. Binks, uneasily, the other night, "I am very much afraid that my bank is in a bad way."

"Oh, nonsense! my dear Maria—nonsense!" said Binks. "Why, it's one of the strongest financial institutions in the country. Whatever put that notion into your dear old head?"

"Well, it's very funny," said Mrs. Binks, still unconvinced. "They've just returned a check of mine for $25 marked 'no funds.'"

When You See the Bell On the bottle you have our guarantee that you are getting the best cough and cold remedy. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has millions of satisfied users. At all dealers.

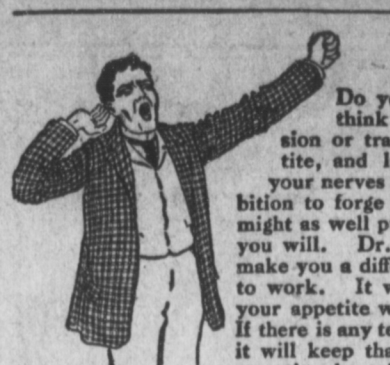

Too Much.

"Why did you kill your parrot? The poor bird meant nothing by its profanity."

"I could stand its profanity, but it learned to imitate the lawn mower last summer."

Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve

Is good for anything for which a salve is indicated—such as pimples, blackheads, sores, chaps, ulcers, sunburn and all skin affections. 25c at all dealers.

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice. Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good." Dr. Pierce's medicines are of known composition. Their every ingredient printed on their wrappers. Made from roots without alcohol. Contain no habit-forming drugs. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DYING WORDS OF CELEBRITIES

Clearly Reveal Life's True Emotions.

A FEW PECULIAR SENTENCES

Which Show That Death's Sad Hour Brings Strange Sensations.

MESSAGES AT GRAVE'S BRINK

There is something that touches the hearts of all people in the last simple words of Charles II.: "Don't let poor Nelly starve." "Poor Nelly" was Nell Gwyn, orange girl, actress and founder of the ducal family of St. Albans.

London Answer says that more mysterious—uncanny, almost—that attributed to his father, Charles I., who, just before he laid his head on the block, ejaculated, addressing the single word, "Remember!" Speculation has been rife for over two centuries as to the exact meaning which ought to be attached to this.

The most probable explanation, and one which has been adopted by most historians, is that Charles, who was at heart a Catholic, felt persuaded that his misfortunes were divine visitation on him for retaining the church property confiscated by Henry VIII., and had made a vow that, if God would restore him to the throne, he would give back this property to the church.

This vow may be seen in the British museum. His injunction to the archbishop was to remember the vow, and enjoin his son Charles to carry it out.

Of the King's immediate crowned ancestors, the last words of George IV. only have been preserved. "Watty," he said to his favorite page, Sir Walthen Waller, "Watty, what is this? It is death, my boy. They have deceived me."

William III. cried out in agony, "Can this last long?" The words were addressed to his physician, the King suffering at the time from a broken collar bone.

Louis XVIII. of France and the Emperor Vespasian are both credited with the same last words, "A king should die standing." The former's ancestor, Louis XIV., joked with his attendants, "Why weep you?" he asked. "Do you think I should live forever? I thought dying had been harder."

His successor's last words are historical. "Frenchmen," he cried from the scaffold, "I die guiltless of the crimes imputed to me. Pray God my blood fall not on France!"

Anne Boleyn, on the scaffold, murmured just before the ax fell, "My neck is very small."

Charles IX. of France, in whose reign occurred the terrible St. Bartholomew massacre, shouted loudly: "Nurse, nurse, what murder—what blood! Oh, I have done wrong! God pardon me!"

Ricard I. of England, was generous and forgiving as in living. To Bertrand de Gourdon, who shot him with an arrow at Chalus, he said: "Youth, I forgive you." Then, to his attendants, he added: "Take off his chains, give him 100 shillings and let him go."

Richard III., the moment before receiving the fatal wound at the battle of Bosworth, cried: "Treason! Treason!" This on seeing his best men desert him to join the standard of Richmond, afterward Henry VII.

There is a flavor of mystery attaching to the dying utterance of the Czar Alexander III.: "This box was presented to me by the emperor (sic) of Prussia."

His ancestor, Alexander I., apologized like Chesterfield for being so long in dying, his last words—"You must surely be tired"—being addressed to his wife Elizabeth.

Something of the same spirit actuated Cromwell, who, when refreshment was pressed upon him, said simply: "My design is to make what haste I can to be gone." And so he died.

This is exactly the reverse of Queen Elizabeth's: "All my possessions for a moment of time!"

Henry VIII.'s dying cry of, "All is lost! Monks, monks, monks!" may or may not be authentic.

James V. of Scotland's last utterance was a prophecy, and a true one: "It (crown of Scotland) came with a lass, and will go with a lass."

This he said when, on his deathbed, he was informed that the Queen had given birth to a daughter—the future Mary Queen of Scots.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. CAME AFTER SOAP AND TALKED SOME

About the Actions of Her Neighbors.

HUSBANDS WERE NOT FRIENDS

And the Reason—Just a Friendly Chat and What It Revealed.

SUIT OF ORMAHAN VS. CUMBACK

"I ran over to borrow a bar of soap," said Mrs. Cumback, hurriedly, according to the Chicago News. "Mrs. Jibway just came to our house to do the weekly washing and when she was all ready to go ahead, we found there was no soap. Mrs. Jibway washed yesterday for Mrs. Ormahan, down in the next block, and what do you think, she says? She tells me that Mrs. Ormahan must have some great trouble. Every little while she cries as if her heart would break. I wonder what in the world can be the matter?"

"Perhaps her shoes are too tight," suggested Mrs. Wagstaff. "Anyhow, I think it is Mrs. Ormahan's business. It's a pity if a woman can't cry all she wants to in her own house. I'd be afraid to employ a washerwoman who tells stories of what she sees in people's houses."

"It's all very well to talk that way, Mrs. Wagstaff, and I'm sure I don't approve of carrying stories from one house to another any more than you do, but Mrs. Jibway is quite a lady, if she is poor and unfortunate. I'm sure she meant no harm when she told me about Mrs. Ormahan, but just spoke out of sympathy. If Mrs. Ormahan is in trouble I think it the duty of her neighbors to call on her and see if they can do anything for her. I won't have a minute's peace until I know what is making the poor woman cry so much, but I wouldn't care to go and ask her myself, for Mr. Ormahan and my husband are not on very good terms, and haven't been since last winter, when Mr. Ormahan had Mr. Cumback arrested."

"You remember that big sleet storm—I think it was in January, or maybe February or March? Everything outdoors was all coated with ice, and I remember I had to walk across the street and felt like a woman in a circus when I was doing it. Well, most people sprinkled ashes on their walks, which is the proper thing to do, but Mr. Ormahan was too lazy or too spiteful, or something. My husband says he not only failed to sprinkle ashes, but sandpapered the ice to make it more slippery, but maybe that isn't so. Anyhow, Mr. Cumback started downtown before daylight, carrying a lantern, and he got along very well until he reached the sidewalk in front of Ormahan's and then his feet went aviating, to use his own language, and he sat down so hard that crockery was broken in the neighboring houses. Mr. Cumback has a remarkable command of language, and I have often thought that he should be in Congress, and I guess he was unusually eloquent as he sat there on his broken lantern. As he scrambled to his feet he happened to find a lone brick on the walk. He didn't want to leave it there for people to stub their toes on, so he threw it at Ormahan's door."

"Well, it happened that Mr. Ormahan had heard my husband's discourse and he was just opening the door to see where the oratory came from, when that brick was thrown, and he caught it quite skillfully with his stomach, and then sat down in the hall to think. He was carrying a lamp at the time and somehow or other he upset it and the oil ran over his clothes and took fire and the neighbors had quite a time extinguishing it."

"He was unreasonable enough to blame Mr. Cumback and had him arrested and my husband was fined $10 and then he had Mr. Ormahan arrested for not cleaning the ice off his walk, and Mr. Ormahan was fined the same amount, and they kept on having each other arrested for one thing or another every day for a week or two. Mr. Cumback has a keen sense of humor and he always said he did it just for sport, but Mr. Ormahan seemed to take the matter seriously, and acted quite mean and ugly, even going so far as to say that Mr. Cumback is a lop-eared leper, which I'm sure he isn't.

THE AFFECTIONS OF HER NEGRO HUSBAND

Stolen By Wealthy St. Louis
Widow, Charges a Cook in Damage Suit.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Catherine Thompson, a negro cook in the home of Dr. L. M. Ottofy, No. 5233 Delmar boulevard, filed suit in the Circuit Court here to-day against Mrs. Dorothea C. Schroeder, widow of Henry Schroeder, wealthy St. Louisian, for $20,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, John Henry Thompson, negro carpenter.

In her petition the cook alleges that the widow, worth $50,000, became enamored of Thompson while he worked for Mr. Schroeder.

The negress charges that Mrs. Schroeder gave her photograph, money and jewels to Thompson, and also wrote him letters abounding in affectionate terms, sent him valentines couched in affectionate phrases, called on him at his home; that he took up his residence with Mrs. Schroeder, and that she has removed to Chicago, where he is living with her in her home at No. 3742 1/2 Forest avenue.

Mrs. Thompson also alleges that Thompson is suing her for divorce at Chicago.

Mrs. Thompson's attorney to-day instructed the Sheriff to seize 200 feet of property in St. Louis belonging to Mrs. Schroeder pending the result of the damage suit.

Gone to Rest.

Died at Greenville, Ky., Friday, Jan. 20th, at 10 a. m., Mrs. Riley Dexter. She was preceded in death by her eleven-month-old little babe, who died on Wednesday night at midnight and was buried at 4 p. m. Thursday. The sweet babe passed into eternal rest 34 hours previous to her dear mother. Mrs. Dexter was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Duncan, former residents of McHenry, Ky., where Nettie spent the early part of her life.

She and her husband and children went to her parents' home on Hopkinsville street, Greenville, Ky., Christmas day, to meet relatives and spend the day in family reunion before leaving for Louisville to enter a sanitarium for special treatment for tuberculosis. As her condition continued worse, she remained with her parents until the last enemy we have to contend with claimed her as his victim. Her sweet little child was seized with whooping cough about two months ago, which developed into pneumonia, causing death in a few days.

Nettie bore her affliction and death of her child with willing submission and great courage, exhibiting that sweet christian peace that is characteristic only of God's children. When planting her last kiss on the brow of her sweet babe, she gave a pleasant smile of blessedness to know her darling had entered into sweet rest and she would soon be reunited with her in heaven. She was bright and in her right mind up to the last, giving comforting words of encouragement to her companions, and passed into eternity without a struggle or pain. The deceased was 30 years of age and leaves a husband, two sweet children—Annie Marie, 7 years old and Dasie M., 3 years old—and a father and mother, two sisters, three brothers and a number of other relatives and friends to mourn her and her loving baby's loss. We are all comforted by knowing that what is our loss is their great gain. Both of the deceased were buried in Evergreen cemetery, in the lot next to Mrs. A. Duncan, their grandmother and great-grandmother.

OSTRACISED FOR SLAYING EDITOR—DYING IN HUT

Edgefield, S. C., Jan. 23.—Estranged from wife and relatives, deserted by one-time friends, and penniless, James H. Tillman, recently Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina, and slayer of N. G. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia State, is dying in a wretched hut near here, attended by an old negro, who is his only companion.

But for the old negro it is said

Tillman would have starved to death. Once the most popular politician in South Carolina, Tillman has been ostracised since he killed Editor Gonzales, who was unarmed, although he was acquitted by a jury.

Tillman sought to enter the ministry in 1904, but the church barred him. His wife left him, and he was stricken with the illness from which he is dying. He is a nephew of Senator H. R. Tillman and a son of George D. Tillman, who was a Representative in Congress.

ROCKEFELLER WALKS TO CHURCH IN THE SNOW

New York, Jan. 22.—John D. Rockefeller walked from his home to the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church this morning and enjoyed the tramp in the snow. He arrived at the church long before the regular services began and shook hands with many friends. He was especially pleased when he saw the sexton, John F. Ritter, who had been absent for several Sundays owing to a fall when putting the Christmas tree up in the Sunday School room. Mr. Rockefeller pressed the sexton's hand warmly and left something in his palm. When Mr. Rockefeller had slyly done this, Mr. Ritter looked at what he thought was some message on a piece of paper and found it to be a $20 bill.

FORTY CENTS PER POUND PAID CLARENCE LEBUS

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—Clarence LeBus, president of the Burley Tobacco Society, sold here Thursday the first tobacco he has ever offered on a loose-leaf market, and his offering set a new high price mark for the Lexington market, some of it being knocked down at the unprecedented price of 40 cents a pound. He sold 6,125 pounds, the prices ranging from 10 to 40 cents and averaging 20 cents, the sum of $1,228.22 being realized from the sale.

The American Tobacco Company bought most of this tobacco, including the 40-cent part. The tobacco was raised on Mr. LeBus' farm in this county and was raised by a tenant on shares.

SKY-SCRAPER TO REACH HEIGHT OF 750 FEET

New York, Jan. 23.—Manhattan Island, which already has the two tallest masonry buildings in the world, is to have a third, taller than either the Singer building or the Metropolitan tower. W. F. Woolworth, the merchant, who is building it, announces a change of plans by which the building gains sixty feet additional in height.

The new structure will stand on lower Broadway between Barclay street and Park Place, overlooking City Hall Square and occupying an entire block at the base. The extreme height is to be 750 feet and the cost will be approximately $12,000,000. The height of the Metropolitan tower is 700 feet three inches and of the Singer building 612 feet one inch.

IMMENSE INCOME OF EXPRESS COMPANIES

In 1909 the gross receipts of the American Express Company were $31,909,721. Its net earnings from the express business were $1,809,254, upon a capitalization of $1,716,004, or an annual profit during the year upon the capital invested in the company of 105.6 per cent.

The net earnings of the Adams Express Company, the United States Express Company and other big express companies were correspondingly large.

In 1909 the various railroads of the country received from the four big express companies alone, for transportation, compensation as follows:

From the Adams Express Company, $14,945,806.56.
From the American Express Company, $14,621,072.16.
From the Wells-Fargo Express Company, $11,416,199.60.
From the United States Express Company, $7,882,906.93.

Joins U. S. Army.

James C. Owen and Byron Dishman, of Ohio county, joined the U. S. Army at the army recruiting station at 221 1/2 Main street, Owensboro, Ky., January 18th. They enlisted for the infantry branch of service and passed excellent physical examinations. They, with six other applicants, were sent immediately to Jefferson Barracks, at St. Louis, Mo., for their preliminary training in the duties of a soldier, prior to joining the organization for which they enlisted.

HERE'S A PIECE OF Good News!

FOR EVERYBODY WHO HAS A MONEY-SAVING INCLINATION

OUR REGULAR PROFIT-SHARING SALE IS NOW ON!

An event which a lot of you have been looking forward to. A sale of High Grade Merchandise offered to you at prices you will be glad to pay. We have marked down our fall and winter stock away below the profit-sharing line. We have bought every big bargain we could find in the wholesale markets in order to make this the most attractive sale proposition we have ever had, and we have succeeded; you will say so when you see our showings.

Your success lies in you appropriating these good things to your personal use. Are you going to do it? At this time of the year, when your time is least valuable, are you going to fail to make a few dollars by not attending this sale?

It will do you good if you don't buy a dollar's worth. The hustle and bustle will put new life in you and you will leave here with a determination to have some money to spend the next time that Barnes' Store has a sale.

The benefit is not all yours. While you make the money, we make a lot of good friends. Every sale makes us some new customers, and we want you and everybody else to come to this sale.

SALE CLOSSES FEBRUARY 4.

If you haven't seen our big ad., drop us a card and we will mail you one. Better still, come to the store and the merchandise will speak for itself.

FRIEDLAND.

Jan. 23.—The Farmers' Union sent and got several barrels of coal oil last week and distributed it out here last Saturday.

Mr. Oda Cooksey, of Olston, and Miss Bertha Crawford, living near here, were quietly married at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. L. C. Crawford, last Sunday.

Mr. David Burch, an account of whose illness appeared in The Herald some time ago, is no better.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hoover, living near here, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover, here, last Sunday, and Master Clarence Hoover went home with them to spend Sunday night.

G. J. Hoover, of the firm of L. S. Hoover & Sons, of this place, went to Evansville last Monday to buy a stock of plows for the spring trade.

H. D. Burch, of this place, went to Owensboro last Saturday.

Mr. H. F. Hobbs, of Fordsville, was here last Saturday, taking up hoops for L. S. Hoover & Son in the interest of Hubbard Bros. Co., of Louisville.

Saturday before last third Sunday was "call" day at Cane Run Church and they called Rev. G. H. Lawrence, of Beaver Dam, again, by unanimous call and also elected G. J. Hoover clerk for the ensuing year. Most all the tobacco in this vicinity has been delivered and all seem to be well pleased with the prices they have been receiving.
